

The NAC Itinerary Planning Timetable is based upon the graphical timetables and this shows an hour by hour presentation of NAC's services and connections available from one flight to another.

It is much less complicated than it looks. These are the points to remember:—

1. Down the left-hand side you will see the list of 24 NAC destinations in north-south order from Kaitiaki to Invercargill.

2. Across the top are figures showing the hours of the day from 5 am to midnight. These are given in the 24-hour system and are repeated for convenience half-way down the page.

If you are not familiar with the 24-hour clock, you should amend the hours to 'ordinary' time. Hence 1300 becomes 1 pm, 1400 becomes 2 pm, 1500 becomes 3 pm and so on until 2400 becomes midnight.

3. The thicker vertical lines separate the Planner into one hour intervals: each of these intervals is again divided into six 10-minute columns.

4. Printed on the timetable is a pattern of sloping lines. Each line represents a service and indicates an aircraft type.

Boeing ——— Friendships ———
Islanders - - - - -

5. Each line shows the flight number.

6. To select the flight of your choice, locate the town you commence your journey in the left hand column and run your finger along the corresponding horizontal line until you meet a flight commencing at that city. North-bound flights go towards the top of the page, south-bound flights towards the bottom (north-bound flight numbers are always even, south-bound are uneven).

When you have located a flight leaving the city of your departure, you can follow it through on its journey to your final destination, or you can readily see how it will connect at an intermediate point with another flight. For example, say you wish to fly from Christchurch to Hamilton, on a week day, you will see that Boeing flight 544 leaves Christchurch at 8.30 am arriving Wellington at 9.15 am Flight 926 leaves Wellington at 10.10 am, arriving Hamilton at 11.00 am.

You will note that aircraft times on the ground at any point are shown by a horizontal line at a particular city.

TRANSHIPMENT TIMES

The minimum connecting time between NAC flights is 20 minutes at all centres — except Wellington, where the minimum is 30 minutes. There are, however, some connections within these limits which have been authorised. Please enquire at the nearest NAC Office or accredited Travel Agency for any special connections.
